BLIZZARD WITH SIXTY-MILE GALE HITS NEW YORK

To Continue Until Monday in Some Sections

(By Associated Press)
Washington, March 6.—The storm which swept out of the northwest two days ago, was passing slowly out to sea today. High winds continued all along the Atlantic coast and severely cold weather prevailed over the entire country east of the Rocky Mountains. Weather bureau officials said the cold wave probably would continue for several days diminishing gradually after Monday. The full force of the storm was being felt today in New England, a cold wave being forecast for tonight in Rhode Island, the eastern part of Massachusetts, eastern New Hampshire and Maine. Snow also was expected in Northern New England.

New York, March 6.—The storm king paid another unwelcome visit to New York today just as the city was commencing to recover from the effects of the $5,000,000 blizzard of a month ago and within 12 hours the metropolis struggled with a falling rain, a driving sleet storm, and biting snow squalls. As the temperature dropped steadily during the night the wind increased in velocity until during the early morning hours it had reached an unofficial velocity of 60 miles an hour which boded ill for the shipping off the coast. The comparatively warm rain was at first welcomed as the fall at the rate of an inch an hour, washed away some of the icy muddy relics of February's blizzard but the gusts were soon turned into miniature mill-races, the sewers were clogged, cellars were holed and small streams in the outlying sections overflowed their banks. Roads were washed out and high tides contributed to damage along the waterfront. The sleet made a successful attack on the transportation system. Service on nearly all the trolley lines in Manhattan and on some of the elevated lines were crippled. Trains into the railway terminals were reported to be considerably behind their schedules.

DISTILLERS ATTACK LAW

(By Associated Press)
Washington, March 6.—The prohibition amendment and portions of the enforcement act were attacked as unconstitutional in a brief filed in the supreme court today by the Kentucky Distillers and Warehouse Co., in appeals from federal court decrees holding the act valid. The case will be argued Monday along with the Rhode Island and other cases.

TURKEY MAY BE FURTHER REDUCED

(By Associated Press)
London, March 6.—There is a likelihood that the Silesian massacre may cost Turkey what the treaty of peace might otherwise have left her, according to expressions in dinner circles at Whitehall, where allied foreign ministers continue framing the Turkish settlement.
It is believed among other things the proposed western boundary on the Black Sea may be abandoned and the line may be drawn much farther east. This would limit Turkish possessions in Europe to the narrow peninsula north of the Sea of Marmara. France and Great Britain are credited with being in agreement in this respect, but there is less certainty expressed as to Italy's attitude and the matter has yet to be settled definitely. Another effect of the Silesian outrage is said to be the settlement among members of the foreign ministers' council towards totally depriving Turkey of an army and permitting her to maintain only a police force. This is a scheme which has been discussed for some time and recently appeared doomed to abandonment but it is now said to be the most probable solution of the question.

PRESIDENT FAVORS A COMPROMISE

(By Associated Press)
Washington, March 6.—White House officials in discussion today the moves of administration senators to arrange a conference with President Wilson on the peace treaty situation said the President told Senator Glass of Virginia two weeks ago that his attitude was towards a compromise on the Article 10 reservation. It was said that there had been no decision as to whether the President would see the senators in response to the request of Senator Hitchcock.

SEC. DANIELS SPRINGS SENSATION IN NAVY NEEDS

He Tells House Committee He Wants Big Three-Year Program if L. of N. is Defeated

(By Associated Press)
Washington, March 6.—Secretary Daniels today told the house naval committee he would recommend a naval building program for next year larger than that proposed by the general board "if the peace treaty is not ratified at this session of congress." Withholding final recommendation, however, the secretary added, that if this country in the end rejected membership in the League of Nations, he would feel impelled to renew his recommendation for another three years' program of construction. Referring to his statement of last year that "we must have a League of Nations by which every nation will help preserve the peace of the world without competitive naval building or we must have incomparably the biggest navy in the world," Mr. Daniels declared there was no middle ground. The program which the secretary recommended be authorized in event the treaty is not ratified, agreed with the general board's proposal as to capital ships—two battleships and one battle-cruiser—but added to that proposal twenty light cruisers and fourteen flotilla leaders or super-destroyers. No light cruisers and only six super-destroyers were recommended by the board. It had been his intention if the peace treaty were ratified with the possibility of armaments being curtailed and regulated, the secretary declared to recommend definitely only such a naval building program necessary to round out the fleet. No capital ships would have been included in this program, he added, but owing to the unsettled condition of the world today, he declared the American navy must be prepared for any emergency.

ONLY 1171 U. S. EMPLOYEES OUT

(By Associated Press)
Beverly, Mass., March 6.—The strike begun yesterday by the members of the Machinists Union employed at the plant of the United Shoe Machinery Company here was maintained today without disturbance. The company issued a formal statement saying 1171 of its 5330 employees had joined the walk-out which it said was based solely on the demand for abolition of individual contracts. The union, claiming that 3000 of its members are out, announced that the individual contract system was not the only bone of contention but that the company had refused to enter into a collective bargaining agreement including a proposal for shop grievance committees and that an attempt was being made to crush unionism at its plant. The company in its statement said the union has demanded a closed shop but when the company refused, the demand was withdrawn.

BLIZZARD TIES UP ALL FREIGHT SERVICE

B. & M. and N. Y. & N. H. Cancel All Freight Trains

(By Associated Press)
Boston, March 6.—The winter's latest storm swept into New England today adding further burdens to congested railroads, leaving down the wires and holding shipping in part or to emergency anchorages.
In its earliest stages the storm started a thaw of the tremendous snow and ice deposits but all flood danger was quickly checked when the precipitation turned from rain to snow with increasing cold. The wind gained strength with the hours and a velocity of eighty miles an hour was reported from Blue Hill observatory before noon. Locally the snow fall was light because the precipitation had been in the form of rain up to this morning. Though rain fell here to correspond with a foot of snow in North ern and western New England lower temperatures developed snow earlier and snow blockades of railroads and trolley services were reported with from 12 to 14 inches of snow, making conditions the worst of the winter. These conditions were reflected here with four to six hours' delay on trains arriving from New York and points north and west where the brunt of the storm was felt last night. The Boston and Maine railroad because of conditions in Vermont and New Hampshire suspended all freight service.

good many centuries, Joseph Marcus, special agent of the United States Employment Service declares in a report issued by the Department of Labor. The investigator reported that lack of employment for a large part of the people, intermittency of occupation and small wages have brought about a critical situation on the island.

The Porto Rican laborer looks to the United States with its enlightenment and leadership in humanitarian ideals to rescue him, the Marcus report said. Both the government and the American Federation of Labor are being appealed to, it was explained.

But before the industries can be expected to enter the Porto Rican field shipping facilities must be increased, with fast steamers in service; a branch of the federal reserve bank must be instituted on the island and must be more independent, land-owning farmers, according to the report. Then with a big export business work may be provided for all at fair wages. Now when a laborer is working, he and his family share a breakfast of only black coffee, a luncheon of rice and beans, rice and codfish, or codfish and plantains and a dinner the same as luncheon, it was stated.

The Porto Rican is beginning to demand better living conditions, Mr. Marcus reported. Strikes, organized and supported by the Free Federation of Labor which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, take place frequently.

DEFENSE OF REALM ACT USED

(By Associated Press)

Dublin, March 5.—The Defense of the Realm act adopted for purposes of the war, is being freely employed in the government's struggle with the Sinn Féin. It was under the powers delegated to the government by this act that the Freeman's Journal was suppressed. In accordance with this law also many cases of alleged sedition which ordinarily would be tried in the civil courts now are heard by the court's martial. Deportations of suspected persons are made under this act and it is charged that leading Irish men are kept in prison in England without the necessity of bringing against them any specific complaint.

The government, however, does not confine itself to the exercise of its war powers under the Defense of the Realm act, but many prosecutions take place in the ordinary way before justice magistrates. This is quite usual in Dublin where the police magistrates are regularly appointed salaried officials, but are pure in the provinces where the magistrates are unpaid.

Apart from the instances of the government's conflict with Sinn Féin, the life of the country proceeds as usual. Regular courts of law sit everywhere and Sinn Féiners appear before the civil courts as litigants and as lawyers but they refuse to recognize the jurisdiction of the same judges when sitting to try criminal offenses.

An experiment of holding Sinn Féin courts under the authority of the free republic has been tried, but on a small scale. It is only possible where a dispute can be settled by arbitration, since there is not as in the case of the ordinary legal courts any means of compelling the obedience of the unsuccessful litigant.

The Sap Will Soon Be Running.

The maple sugar season is close at hand. How favorable or unfavorable it will be no one can now tell, for it is something that can never be told until the close of the season. Weather conditions have such a direct effect upon the flow of sap that it is impossible to tell in advance what the harvest from the "sugar bush" will be.

In view of the scarcity and high price of sugar it would seem that the owners of maple sugar orchards would exert themselves to extract the largest possible amount of sweetness from their trees this spring, but the Department of Agriculture, which has been looking over the prospects, reports that thousands of farmers in many parts of the country are making little or no preparations for the production of maple sugar and syrup. The Department mentions the fact that the opportunities for maple sugar making are not confined to New England, but exist in many states stretching across the continent and as far south as Tennessee.

And yet New England is, with the possible exception of parts of New York state, the headquarters of the maple sugar industry of the country. The soil and climate are especially adapted to it, and from long experience the people of New England know exactly how to handle the business.

In the old days maple sugar was largely used in New England households in place of commercial sugar, but this practice long since passed away. Maple sugar and syrup are now regarded chiefly as luxuries, and as such they command tempting prices in the markets. In the estimation of many there is no other sweet in the world equal to these articles when the manufacture has been properly conducted.

In the equipment for making maple sugar there have been great improvements in recent years. The big black kettle suspended over a roaring bonfire has largely disappeared. For the most part the sap is now reduced to syrup and sugar in large pans constructed especially for the purpose, making the work easier and faster and keeping the product cleaner, with consequent improvement both to looks and flavor.

In these later years syrup is more popular in the markets than sugar, and for this reason a large proportion of the product from the maples is not converted into sugar. The syrup is put up in bottles and cans and meets with a quick sale in the cities, where it is justly regarded as one of the pronounced treats of the year. Yet there is still a market for sugar, much of which is put up in small cakes and used as a confection.

There should be no need for calling upon the farmers at this time to work their maple orchards for the purpose of helping out the sugar supply. There will be a lively demand for every pound of syrup and sugar that can be made this spring, and purchasers will be prepared to meet the prices, whatever they are. With right weather conditions there is a rich harvest in store for every worker of a sugar orchard, and those who have such orchards and the equipment to do with should be getting into gear for the campaign, which is due to open now at almost any time.

The railroad service of the region is improving steadily and there is every reason to believe that the worst is past. It was certainly bad enough while it lasted, and it lasted a long time.

An order for the construction of submarines will be welcomed at the navy yard and by all the people of this city and region. And there is practically no question that the order will soon be forthcoming.

It is well that the census work in this city is to be cleaned up and that Portsmouth is to be credited with the population it has. Some of the work was apparently carelessly done and it is proper that the shortcomings should be rectified.

Perhaps it would be well to let the meat packers operate for a time under the conditions that have just been established before splitting them up into "small, local and co-operative stockyards and slaughter houses," as proposed by a representative of stock growing organizations. Doing business on a large scale is not in itself an indictment.

The Senate Agricultural Committee has voted to discontinue the distribution of free seeds. Such distribution has been appreciated by many, and as an extravagance it cuts a sorry figure by the side of many others in vogue at Washington.

ITEMS FROM THE N. H. GAZETTE FIFTY YEARS AGO

"The streets of Portsmouth have never been so clear of cows as during the last year, thanks to Pound-keeper Shillaber and his brokers. It is bad enough to have cows driven through the streets at all, or kept in the compact part of any city, without allowing them to range at will at any season, which no gentleman would ever wish to allow in town or country even."

"The Vineyard Gazette says that 70 years ago this winter was a hard one. At that time two teams passed from the mainland to Nantucket, each with half a cord of wood, which was sold to the inhabitants of the island at the rate of fifty dollars a cord."

"A friend says he knows of but one branch of business which is very profitable and but little followed, and that is 'to find your own business and not be meddling with other people's.'"

"Thomas J. Hand of Hye, thinks the New Hampshire Gazette has been taken by his family and that of his father from the start, 113 years ago."

"The navy yard workmen returned to their work on Wednesday, after resting about three weeks."

EDITOR M'DUFFEE STATES HIS POSITION

He Wants an Unpledged Delegation to Chicago.

Here is a list of candidates for delegates to the Republican national convention, to be voted for next Tuesday, which the Courier favors and for which its editor will vote:

For delegates-at-large—Charles W. Tobey, speaker of the house of representatives; Benjamin F. Worcester, of Manchester; Mont. Fred N. Beckwith, former mayor of Dover; Merrill Shurtleff of Lancaster.

For delegates from the First District—Hon. Charles W. Varney of this city; Hon. Fletcher Hale of Laconia. Those men, if elected, will go to Chicago, unpledged, and free to act in the exigencies of the time demand. It is for this reason that we favor them.

Perhaps it is unnecessary to reiterate why we believe in an unpledged delegation; but we will just say this once more: The question of the nomination for President is as yet very much in the air. Nobody can tell how the situation will shape itself between now and next June. To have a delegation bound hand and foot to the candidacy of any one man is to run the risk of destroying the whole influence of the state. This might be a risk worth taking. If the one man were pre-eminently fitted for the position that none of the others proposed were to be compared with him. But in the case of General Wood, we believe, such is not the case.

In another column we print a political advertisement for the delegates who are pledged to Wood. The chief argument used therein, and used constantly during the whole campaign in New Hampshire, is that General Wood is a native of New Hampshire and for that reason should receive New Hampshire's vote. The displaying of this argument so prominently certainly would tend to indicate a weak, instead of a strong candidate. If the best reason for voting for Wood for President is that he spent two weeks of his infancy in our state, then it is certainly time to look for a stronger candidate. That unwise argument in the present instance, is certainly the height of the ridiculous.

There is another reason for independent-minded republicans voting for Wood for the unpledged list of candidates. And that is this attempt to force New Hampshire to back Wood. The threats made against all candidates, that if they did not pledge to Wood, they would be defeated, do not tend to make some of us any more enthusiastic supporters of the General. Are the republicans of New Hampshire in a word, to select their own delegates to the convention, or are George H. Moses and Frank Knox to pick them out for us?

In our selection it may seem strange to some that we have omitted Hon. Fred W. Estabrook, the present member of the national committee. Personally, we have to oppose him. But in yielding his own convictions that the delegation should be unpledged, because of the pressure brought to bear on him, and pledging himself to Wood, he forfeited our support in this instance, much as we like Mr. Estabrook and great as his services to the party have been.

Therefore, once more, we urge all independent republicans who are seeking not their own gain, or advantage, but the welfare of their country and their party, to vote for Tobey, Worcester, Beckwith and Shurtleff as delegates-at-large, and for Varney and Hale for delegates from this district.—Rochester Courier.

STATE CO-OPERATION IN MARKETING

Hill Market—The price of hides has declined rapidly. Green tanned cow hides worth 25 cents to 27 cents a pound two weeks ago are quoted today at from 15 cents to 18 cents a pound with the market in a very unsettled condition, dealers advising that it is practically impossible to sell to the farmers. The decline in the foreign exchange has caused the cancelling of many orders and has left tanneries with high priced hides on their hand and no immediate outlet for them.

The Market Bureau is making a special effort to have New England dealers quote hides on a uniform or graded basis so that farmers may know and receive the market price for the quality sold. Arrangements have been made with a number of dealers to quote them on a graded basis and further improvements in this service will be made as fast as possible.

Hays—There is an active demand for all grades of hay and parties having any baled and ready for shipment will be placed in touch with dealers and farmers who are anxious to purchase it. Clover, mixed and stock hay are especially wanted by farmers in the following towns: Concord, Bedford, Ashland, Hooksett, Oxford, Bedford, Laconia.

Baby Chicks and Hatching Eggs—The list of New Hampshire poultrymen having baby chicks and hatching eggs for sale is ready for distribution.

button and we urge parties desiring to purchase chickens or eggs to secure one of these lists and buy of local poultrymen. Why send your money out of the state, when as good, if not better stock may be secured at home?

The Market Reporter—The U. S. Bureau of Markets is issuing a weekly Market Reporter which summarizes marketing conditions throughout the country and contains a great deal of valuable farm information to producers, dealers and consumers of farm products. The Reporter may be secured free of charge by writing to the Bureau of Markets, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., stating your name, address, business or occupation, and kind of farm products in which you are especially interested, also what periodicals or reports you are receiving regularly from the Bureau of Markets or other branches of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

That the San Francisco paper might tell us what father used to do in those days.

That the Chamber of Commerce has communicated with Edward A. Flynn of Boston and requested him to arrange a date to speak in this city during the present month of later.

That if Portsmouth is favored with Mr. Flynn as a speaker, the people will meet a most able man and one worth hearing.

That Portsmouth is seldom without the presence of some gumshoe men or a squad of investigation.

No excuse yesterday for not cleaning off that sidewalk.

SIX TAKEN FROM BURNING HOSPITAL

Four Women, Two Babies Rescued at Portland.

Portland, Me., March 5.—Four women and two infants were carried from the private hospital of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Gordon, 21 State street, on mattresses by firemen, policemen, and early arrivals while fire was raging in the basement this forenoon. Mrs. Helen Anzani, Mrs. Rosebud Levy and Mrs. Dorothy Ross of this city, and Mrs. Florence Burke of Montreal were rescued amid considerable excitement, and two infants were hurried to nearby homes similarly.

Mrs. Levy was able to go home and the others were taken to hospitals, but will return to this one tomorrow. It is believed, as the fire did little damage to the basement, so speedily and effectively did the firemen work.

Policemen Owen and Cassidy, the earliest to arrive, burst in the rear door and began removal of patients unable to walk. Mr. Gordon was burned about the face and hands when he tried to put out the fire.

Chief Justice Cornish upon receiving the petition, ordered the Governor to appear to show cause why injunction should not issue as prayed for at the court house in Augusta on Monday, March 15, at 10 a. m.

Service was made upon the governor at his rooms in the state house.

NAVY YARD NOTES

Find Issue Coming. The final issue of the Life Buoy, the official organ of the Industrial Department, which has been printed mostly during the war, is expected to be distributed on Monday or Tuesday next. The Life Buoy has always been a threeough and neat publication and was of great interest to the officers of the yard as well as the civilian force.

To Take on Vice Admiral. The U. S. S. Olympia which Capt. Capt. H. L. Wyman, a former industrial officer of the local yard, is commanding, will shortly sail for European waters to take aboard Vice Admiral Knapp and become his flagship.

Getting New Motorboat. A 30-foot motorboat of the latest type is being made ready for shipment to the U. S. S. Olympia at New York.

Japan of Today. The subject of the illustrated lecture in the yard auditorium on Sunday evening will be "Japan Today." Albert L. Sprague will be the soloist with Miss Ellen Bowden as pianist.

One Apprentice. One apprentice boilermaker was required today for the Industrial Department.

Will Be Delayed. The weather will likely drive the Eagle boats 2 and 3 in some Maine port. The boats were due here today from Norfolk.

Straggler Reports In. John F. Bourne, who has been missing from the receiving ship Southey for the past 13 days, in Portland, gave himself up aboard the ship today.

Daniels Orders Leave. Secretary Daniels has issued an order directing that all men of the Jewish faith in the service be allowed leave from April 2 to the evening of April 4.

To Build Cranes. Two cranes costing $12,787 have been ordered built for Building 42 at the Charlestown yard.

Stragglers Coming In. Quite a few stragglers are giving themselves up at the Charlestown yard each day. One young fellow had been away since May, 1919, and another since August of the same year, gave themselves up on Friday. Hard luck and fear of being detected were among the factors that caused them to surrender.

WOMAN'S CITY CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Woman's City Club was held on Thursday afternoon at the Woman's Building. Matters of business were given attention and much enthusiasm displayed regarding the future of the club. It was voted to make arrangements, if possible, for a course in parliamentary law, this to be conducted for a short period at the opening of each meeting. It was also voted to have the afternoon meetings open promptly at 3 o'clock, every Thursday, unless public notice is given to the contrary.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, an impromptu program was carried out. Miss Susan Northwick, rendering some very delightful solos and Mrs. Robert Potter executing several brilliant piano selections. The members present were privileged also to listen to Dr. Helen L. D. McMillin.

Why Bond the State and the Republican Party

THE LAW AND THE PLEDGE ARE EXPLICIT AND COMPELLING.

A "Pledged Delegate" has no right to vote for a second candidate as long as the man for whom the Delegate is "pledged" remains a candidate.

It is not a matter of opinion, judgment, reason, common sense, expediency, state good, party success, or anything else. A delegate is bound to vote, and continue to vote for the man to whom he is pledged, whether he wants to or not.

Of course, a man can violate his pledge. So, also, a man can repudiate a vote.

Do the people of New Hampshire want to send delegates to the Republican National Convention who expect to break their promises if occasion arises?

The Franklin Journal-Transcript has advocated a "pledged delegation." Yet read the following paragraph from its issue of February 26 and learn how it regards the "pledge."

General Wood is the first choice of a majority of Republican voters in New Hampshire, but the talk of voting for him until his name is withdrawn is sheer nonsense. If, after a few ballots, it is seen that he cannot be nominated our delegates should have sense enough to pick some other man. The idea of voting for a man until he runs down like a clock is not to our way of thinking. If "pledged delegates" are not to keep the pledge, why pledge them?

CAN THAT PLEDGE BE VIOLATED WITHOUT DISHONOR?

One honorable course is open to the Republicans of New Hampshire. That is to elect delegates to the Republican National Convention who have given their word to vote for General Leonard Wood as a candidate for President as long as there are grounds for believing he will be nominated. The pledged delegates have given their words of honor that they will do this. When they have kept their promises, as they will, let them use their judgment as to what is best for the United States, the State of New Hampshire and the Republican Party.

Do not send to Chicago men who are expected to break their solemn pledges the minute they think the time ripe to do so.

VOTE FOR THE UNPLEDGED DELEGATION.

Abraham Lincoln could not have been nominated if delegations had been Pledged. LEAVE YOUR DELEGATES FREE TO CHOOSE A LEADER WHO WILL PROVE, LIKE LINCOLN, THE MAN OF THE HOUR. THE NATION IS SAFE, THE STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE IS SAFE, THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IS SAFE, NOW AS THEN, WITH THE CHOICE OF UNPLEDGED DELEGATES.

HURLEY WANTS SALE OF SHIPS

New York, March 5.—Under private ownership and operation, merchant ships can succeed as well under the American flag as well as any other, Edward N. Hurley, former chairman of the United States Shipping Board, declared in a statement made public here today. Mr. Hurley advocated the early sale of the government owned fleet, but said "it must not be concentrated in the hands of a few large steamship companies."

Mr. Hurley explained that nearly three hundred steamship companies are now organized, many of them successfully engaged in foreign trade. By September of this year, he added, the government fleet will consist of approximately 1900 steel vessels, aggregating 11,000,000 tons, and if these companies can be induced to take six ships each, the problem will be solved.

RAILROAD NOTES

Cutting Down Speed
Western route trains on the Boston & Maine are running at reduced speed between Hockingham and North Berwick, owing to track conditions.

Big Crane for B. & A.
The Boston and Maine railroad has just received a new 100-ton, self-propelling steam wrecking crane, which is the largest in New England. It will be located at West Springfield and will be available for service on either the Boston or Albany division. The crane weighs 216,000 pounds. Its maximum lifting capacity is 160 tons at a radius of 1 foot. The main boom is 10 feet long and at that radius the crane will lift 40 tons. It is of the most modern type, is capable of propelling itself at the rate of three miles an hour and of handling the large types of locomotives operating on the B. & A.

Succeeds Webster

Fred S. Heath, who for the past 30 years has been connected with the Boston & Maine railroad, has been appointed assistant treasurer, with offices in Concord, succeeding John T. Webster who has resigned. Mr. Heath is known to the railroad men all over the line as he is on the managing committee of the railroad Y. M. C. A. and is a very active member.

Shortage of Cars

The Maine Central railroad is continuing its campaign in attacking the congested freight yards along the various divisions of the road. There is a shortage of cars for the needs of the shippers and with the small movement of freight and little unloading the prospects of additional supply at once is indicated. Food stuffs, provisions and grains and a few other preferential articles are being handled with all possible speed.

Some Invention

A storage battery electric locomotive invented in Switzerland for utilizing uses powerful electro-magnets instead of couplings for drawing cars.

Bardo Heads Committee

The Railway Executives' Association today appointed a committee to confer with representatives of the railroad brotherhoods on wages and working conditions. The action was taken in response to a request by President Wilson.

The committee of executives of which G. L. Bardo of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, is chairman, is designed to become a part of a joint board under the transportation act to settle wage demands that have been pending since last August. Altogether sixteen railway labor organizations have been asked by President Wilson to name committees for the board.

Headed Mr. Bardo the committee of executives is composed of G. E. Bates, Delaware & Hudson; P. E. Blaser, Baltimore & Ohio; W. W. Brown, Atlantic Coast Line; A. E. Lindsey, New York Central; A. W. Trenholm.

Fear for the Bridge

The Boston & Maine has some fear of the railroad section of the Dover

Point bridge today owing to the heavy rain and high tide. This morning a large field of ice was packed against the piling on the up-river side and the trains from Dover were held there a half hour or more before passing over. Tugs and a crew of men and their watches the ice and doing what work possible.

Rev. William Woodhull, acting pastor of the community church at Atlantic Heights will conduct the church services on Sunday at the school house. At the 10.30 a. m. service the subject of his sermon will be "A Good Fighter." At this service the American flag for the Sunday school will be presented by Storer Relief Corps No. 6, with appropriate exercises. Sunday school will be held at 11.30 a. m. the topic for the day's class being, "Is Religion Enduring?" The theme of the evening service will be "Carry On."

Rev. William Woodhull leaves on Monday for Philadelphia to take up with the Board of Missions the matter of purchasing and remodeling one of the dormitories at Atlantic Heights for a community church. Rev. T. Ross Hicks of Haverhill, Mass., superintendent of the Methodist churches of this district will be in Philadelphia next Thursday and the whole plan will be gone over. There is very little doubt but what the building will be purchased for a church. Contractors have looked it over and if purchased, it is planned to leave the room in the middle and the shower baths and to remodel one part of the dormitory into a church with a seating capacity for 250 people and at the other end of the building to have a social hall 30 by 45 feet. If the matter is decided work will be started on the building in a very short time. The committee of the community church is successfully working on plans of organization and with a suitable building there will soon be a growing church at Atlantic Heights.

Chaplain A. J. Hayes, U. S. N., will conduct the religious services at Atlantic Heights on Sunday evening, March 14 in the absence of Rev. William Woodhull.

PARENTS AT FARRAGUT SCHOOL

Under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Farragut school a reunion of pupils was held last evening at the school building and over two hundred present and former pupils and parents and friends were present to enjoy the occasion. It was a success in every way and Superintendent Clayton of the local schools, who was among the guests, remarked on the splendid spirit and interest shown by those who attended.

A business meeting of the association was first held and the annual election of officers took place. Those of last year all being elected. They are as follows:

President—Mrs. Samuel Cohen.

Vice President—Eugene Paul.

Secretary and Treasurer—Miss Elizabeth Hyman.

Executive committee—Mrs. Albert H. Garland, Mrs. Charles O'Hara, Mrs. Wyatt Berry, Miss Lucy Pray.

Following the business session a musical program was presented and was a credit to the pupils who took part. The numbers included a piano duet by Teresa and Angelo Paul, a violin duet by Carlo Lantini and Renato Trucell, piano solos by Alice Freeman, Laura Freeman and Nina Alvy. Remarks were made by Superintendent Clayton and four children told the story of "Hansel and Gretel" and gave a dance. The program concluded, an informal time was enjoyed and games and dancing made time pass merrily. Young and old entered into the spirit of the occasion with a zest and every one had a good time and showed a fine community spirit.

Much for the dancing was furnished by Miss Jennie Lynn, pianist, and Carlo Lantini and Renato Trucell, violinists, the two latter being Farragut school pupils. Refreshments of assorted sandwiches and coffee were served. Mrs. Garland and Mrs. Matthew Maguire being in charge.

Dancing was enjoyed in the hall and one of the rooms, while another room was devoted to games. The officers of the Parent-Teachers' Association, and Miss Milburn, principal of the school and the other teachers saw that everyone had a fine time and the reunion was a success beyond all expectations and it is planned to have another such in about a month.

WHY NOT A GAME BETWEEN KITTRY AND PORTSMOUTH?

Kittry Says It Would Be No Picnic for Local Bowlers.

The Kittry bowlers have come out in the sporting world with some good bowling stars. Now is the chance for the Portsmouth fire fighters and the candlepin artists from the town across the river to give us a contest on the alleys. The Kittry men say that if they should roll against any five men from the Portsmouth department it will not be such easy picking as when the bowlers of Chief Woods' brigade went up against the Yorkers. This looks as if the Kittry aggregation were out with a second hand challenge. Well, let's have it out on some bowling alley and if Kittry has anything that talks besides press comment, why not name the amount and go to it.
